NARI President's Message

Welcome to the 2021 NARI Directory! It is my honor and privilege to introduce you to this highly experienced and diverse set of professionals and companies who have earned the right to bear the NARI designation. Whether your home project is large or small, whether you need a general contractor to manage your entire project, or a skilled pro to take care of a particular job, you've come to the right place. These pages open the doors to your dreams becoming a reality - the best of the best are listed here.

NARI remodelers (the National Association of the Remodeling Industry) are not only committed to excellence, continuing education and ethics within the remodeling industry; these people and companies adhere to the highest safety and professional standards for their employees, clients and colleagues.

During this time which has been so challenging for so many, NARI members have been hard at work - turning bedrooms into offices, basements into classrooms, '50's kitchens into renewed family gatherings spaces, and creating beautiful outdoor oasis for us to gather safely with family and friends. NARI contractors know how to maintain safe work environments for you and your family.

Despite the pandemic, you'll have ample opportunity to meet NARI professionals and see their work up close this year - whether it's by visiting our virtual tours, checking out project photos from our Contractor of the Year awards or visiting their individual websites and getting inspired! We are committed to bringing inspiration and resources to you, and giving you the care and support that you've come to expect from NARI.

If you are a remodeling professional, consider applying to join our ranks! There are many opportunities to meet and engage with fellow members, continue your professional development, and mentor and develop your younger employees. Madison is one of the most respected chapters in the Nation; we walk the talk!

Visit www.NARIMadison.org to learn more, and find a complete list of NARI of Madison members in this directory.

Again, welcome! It's wonderful to see you here, leafing through the pages, and meeting the best contractors to take your project from idea to its beautiful manifestation.

Let's make 2021 a great year!

NARI of MADISON FOUNDATION INC. a 501c3 corporation, was established in 2012 by a group of dedicated NARI Professionals who are committed to the growth and development of the next generation of skilled construction trade professionals. Although a separate entity from NARI of Madison, we share a common mission to elevate the entire remodeling industry through educational endeavors and professional development.

OUR MISSION

To raise funds and provide opportunities for programs and scholarships to support education in the remodeling industry. With the generous support of NARI of Madison and community members, we have helped fund scholarships for students of the Construction and Remodeling and Interior Design Programs at Madison College. We look forward to continuing to serve our mission and providing additional opportunities in the future. Fundraising is ongoing and we are always looking for fundraising ideas or potential educational programs to help further our mission. If you have an idea for us, please contact any of the directors or the NARI office at nari@narimadison.org or 608-222-0670.

DIY or HIRE A PRO?

Home Improvement Projects:
Do-It-Yourself or Hire a Professional?
Take this quiz to find out!

Should you save money by doing the job yourself?

Do-it-yourself (DIY) jobs are a popular trend in the home improvement industry; however, before you grab a hammer and start swinging, you should know that the wrong decision could bring forth a few potential problems. Before you decide to do-it-yourself, the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) recommends taking this DIY quiz:

Answer yes or no:

- Do you enjoy physical work?
- Are you persistent and patient?
- Do you have reliable work habits—meaning that once the project is started, will it get finished?
- Do you have all the tools needed and, more importantly, the skills required to do the job?
- What quality level do you need for this project? Are your skills at that level?
- Do you have the time that will be required to complete the project? (Always double or triple the time estimated for a DIY project, unless you are highly skilled and familiar with that particular project.) Will it matter if the project remains unfinished for a period of time?
- Are you prepared to handle the kind of stress this project will create in your family relationships?
- Do you know all of the steps involved in the project?
- Have you received the installation instructions from the manufacturer to determine whether this is a project you still want to undertake? (Most manufacturers will send you installation instructions before purchase to determine whether the product will meet your needs.)
- Is this a job you can do completely by yourself or will you need assistance? If you do need assistance, what skill level is involved for your assistant? If you need a professional subcontractor, do you have access to a skilled labor pool?
- Are you familiar with your local building codes and permit requirements? (Some jurisdictions require that the work be completed by a licensed and bonded professional in order to meet code.) It's best to check these requirements before beginning work on the project. What will you do if the project goes awry? (Most contractors are wary about taking on a botched DIY job.)
- Is it safe for you to do this project? (If you are not familiar with roofing or do not have fall protection restraints, you may not want to venture into a roofing job. Similarly, if you know nothing about electricity—leave it to the professional. Some jobs can be fatal if not performed correctly. Your health and safety should be the primary concern. Never enter into a DIY project that would jeopardize either.)
- Will you be able to obtain the materials you need? Who will be your source of supply?
- Will they deliver?
- Are you attempting to do-it-yourself for financial reasons? If so, have you looked at all of your costs, including the cost of materials, your time, and the tools you need to purchase? If you are new to the DIY game, you may also want to look at the cost to correct any mistakes you may make—i.e., the damage factor. Will it still be a cost-saving venture?
- If you are trying DIY for the satisfaction of a job well done—can you ensure that the job will be “well done”? If it doesn't come out right, how will you feel? Will you be able to afford to redo any unsatisfactory work?

If you answered yes to 8 or more of these questions, you might attempt a DIY project. But before you run for the nearest hardware store, revisit those questions you marked “No,” and carefully consider the potential problems you will face in those areas if you proceed with the project.

Hiring a professional might be your best choice. NARI recommends that you take your time in selecting a home improvement partner and reminds consumers that such a project can be one of the most important investments that a homeowner can make. Learn what you need to know about lead paint safety if your house was built prior to 1978 at NARI's Lead safety Resource page.

The certification of a remodeling contractor under the certification program of the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) is the association's recognition that the contractor has met certain criteria for experience, commitment to ethical conduct and professionalism.

Master Certified Remodeler (MCR): a CR of 10+ years who holds another NARI certification and has demonstrated leadership within NARI or within the local community.

Certified Remodeler (CR): a professional remodeler who provides a full range of remodeling services. Candidates must prove they possess skill and knowledge in a broad range of business management and technical skill areas.

Certified Remodeler Specialist (CRS): a professional remodeler who specializes in a specific type of work, such as concrete and masonry, electrical, insulation, mechanical systems, plumbing systems and roofing and siding.

Certified Lead Carpenter (CLC): a hands-on field pro who oversees the technical aspect of the project, including personnel management and material flow while working on the project.

Certified Remodeler Project Manager (CRPM): a pro who oversees every administrative aspect of the project: customer satisfaction, scheduling subcontractors, record-keeping, risk management, and much more. A CRPM may work full time on one project or oversee several at one time, depending on the scope.

Green Certified Professional (GCP): a pro who considers energy efficiency, sustainability and maximizing nature's resources and energy in an efficient and responsible manner, both in the conduct of their business and in design and construction of a client's remodeling project.

Universal Design Certified Professional (UDCP): a pro who handles renovations that are appealing not only for "aging in place," but for anybody who wishes to move about his or her home freely, without barrier and without giving their home that "institutional" look. Families who have members with special needs also benefit from a UDCP.
